The Tennessee Board of Parole is an independent, autonomous seven-member board appointed by the Governor. By statute, the board has the authority to parole eligible offenders who have served a certain percentage of their sentences. It also has the authority to revoke parole privileges if offenders do not comply with supervision rules and standards set forth for them upon their release. The agency provides services to victims of crime as they navigate the parole hearing process. The board also considers requests for executive clemency and makes recommendations on those requests to the Governor.

Some parole hearings are conducted by hearings officers. They make non-binding recommendations for review by board members. For more serious offenses, board members conduct the hearings. Only board members can make parole decisions.

The Board of Parole promotes and supports lawful behavior, education, and evidence-based programs that can minimize the risk of repeat offenses. The board's members and staff work closely with the court systems, the Department of Correction, and law enforcement agencies. They also work collaboratively with a variety of community programs whose goals are to reduce crime, guide offenders through rehabilitation, and assist crime victims. Through this coordinated effort, the board strives to protect public safety.

The State Legislature established the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation (TBI) as an independent agency in 1980. As the state's primary criminal investigative agency, TBI is responsible for assisting local law enforcement with major crimes, as well as launching its own special investigations into illegal drugs, cybercrimes targeting children, human trafficking, fugitives, public corruption, official misconduct, organized crime, domestic terrorism, gambling, Medicaid fraud, and patient abuse. TBI has the statutory authority to investigate any criminal violation at the request of the District Attorney General in the judicial district where the crime occurred. The Bureau also manages a number of high-profile programs, including the TBI Top Ten Most Wanted, the AMBER Alert program, the statewide Sex Offender Registry, and the Tennessee Dangerous Drugs Task Force. TBI headquarters houses the state's Fusion Center, a law enforcement intelligence-sharing unit that provides information and support to law enforcement agencies.

TBI manages the state's three forensic crime labs, which conduct tests on approximately 90,000 pieces of evidence for 61,000 cases annually. The total number of tests conducted in a year is more than 413,000.

TBI has been designated to coordinate the gathering, analysis, and dissemination of state and local criminal justice statistics, providing data to the Governor, General Assembly, and all law enforcement agencies with the annual publishing of "Crime in Tennessee." Additional responsibilities include instant background checks for gun purchases and statewide criminal background checks to the public for a fee. Continuing education is also a priority, with TBI conducting specialized training for more than 8,500 law enforcement personnel in Tennessee annually.

The director of TBI is appointed to a six-year term by the Governor. Current Director David B. Rausch is a graduate of several prestigious law enforcement and leadership training programs, including the thirty-sixth session of the FBI's National Executive Institute. He also serves as an adjunct faculty member of Bethel University's College of Professional Studies Online Criminal Justice Program.

TBI employs more than 550 people statewide, half of whom are commissioned officers.

Tennessee Commission on Aging and Disability

9th Floor, Andrew Jackson Building
Nashville, TN 37243
(615) 741-2056
TN.gov/aging

Jim Shulman, Executive Director

The Tennessee Commission on Aging and Disability was created by the Tennessee General Assembly in 1963. The commission is the designated state unit on aging and is mandated to provide leadership relative to all aging issues on behalf of older persons in this state. The commission administers the federal funds provided by the Older Americans Act. In 2001, the Legislature expanded the authority of the commission to provide services to adults with disabilities under age sixty.

The Older Americans Act provides federal funds for administration and direct services. These services include congregate and home-delivered meals, protection of elder rights, in-home care, senior centers, transportation, and family caregiver services. The commission administers federal funds to operate the State Health Insurance Assistance Program, which provides consumer education and counseling about Medicare. The commission also administers state funds for multipurpose senior centers, public guardianship, and the OPTIONS program, which includes homemaker and personal care services as well as home-delivered meals.

The commission works in partnership with nine area agencies on aging and disability across the state. Each agency is the principal agent of the commission for carrying out the mandates of the Older Americans Act. Each area agency serves as the focal point for all issues relative to the welfare of older persons in its respective planning district. Area agencies perform a wide range of activities related to advocacy, planning, coordination, interagency linkages, information sharing, brokering, monitoring, and evaluation. These activities lead to the development or enhancement of comprehensive and coordinated community-based systems that serve all communities.

The commission also provides leadership and advocacy on emerging initiatives such as: livable communities, volunteer senior transportation, affordable senior housing, elder abuse prevention, and food insecurity.

Richard Kennedy, Executive Director

The Commission on Children and Youth is an independent state agency with the primary mission of advocacy for improving the quality of life for children and families. The Commission collects and disseminates information on children and families for the planning and coordination of policies, programs, and services.

The Commission engages in state budget advocacy; provides guidance on pending state legislation affecting children and families; produces and distributes an annual KIDS COUNT: The State of the Child in Tennessee Policy and Issue Guide; conducts resource mapping of expenditures for children and families through the state budget; administers the federal Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act funds in Tennessee and state Court Appointed Special Advocate funds; engages in advocacy at the federal level on these issues; and has an ombudsman program for children involved with the child welfare and juvenile justice systems.

The Commission staffs and coordinates nine regional councils on children and youth that address local needs, provide organizational structure for statewide networking on behalf of children and families, and provide local input to the commission. The Commission also has administrative responsibility for and staffs the Council on Children's Mental Health to plan for implementation of a system of care for children's mental health services; the Second Look Commission, which reviews cases of children who have experienced second or subsequent incidents of severe abuse to identify recommendations for improving the system; the Youth Transitions Advisory Council, which brings together stakeholders to improve services and supports for young adults transitioning from state custody and from child- to adult-serving systems; and the Home Visiting Leadership Alliance, which brings together home visiting providers to strengthen partnership and development opportunities, improve and coordinate data collection and communications regarding the value of home visiting, and support coordinated advocacy efforts for quality home visiting programs. The Commission serves in a leadership role for Building Strong Brains: Tennessee's ACEs Initiative and provides training, information, and advocacy regarding strategies to prevent and mitigate the impact of adverse childhood experiences.

There has been a statutory commission created by the General Assembly to focus on Tennessee children since 1955. The policy-making body for the Commission is a twenty-one-person board whose members are appointed by the Governor. At least one member is appointed from each of Tennessee's nine development districts. The membership of the Commission consists of twenty percent youth members, in order to meet the requirements for a State Advisory Group for administration of federal juvenile justice funds.

Rebecca Hargrove, President and CEO

In November 2002, Tennessee voters approved a referendum to amend the state Constitution to authorize the establishment of a lottery. In May 2003, the General Assembly passed legislation creating the Tennessee Education Lottery Corporation. In June of the same year, the Governor appointed a seven-member board to oversee the corporation's operations.

The Tennessee Constitution requires all Lottery profits go to specific higher education scholarships, and excess profits may be used for early learning programs and K-12 capital outlay projects. Lottery proceeds have funded more than one million scholarships and grants, hundreds of after-school programs, and energy efficient projects for K-12 schools. The HOPE Scholarship program has gradually expanded to include a variety of educational awards, including Tennessee Promise and Tennessee Reconnect, which give high school graduates and adults the opportunity to attend a community college or Tennessee College of Applied Technology tuition-free for up to two years.

The Tennessee Education Lottery Corporation operates entirely from the revenue it generates through the sale of its products. From its launch on Jan. 20, 2004, through June 30, 2017, the Lottery raised more than $4 billion for education-related programs, paid more than $11.5 billion in prizes to players and more than $1 billion to retailers in commissions. The corporation maintains four district offices throughout the state and is headquartered in Nashville.

Tennessee Health Services and Development Agency

9th Floor, Andrew Jackson Building
Nashville, TN 37243

Logan Grant, Executive Director

The Tennessee Health Services and Planning Act of 2002 (Public Chapter 780, Acts of 2002) authorized the creation of the Health Services and Development Agency. The Agency is an independent body responsible for implementing the public policy of the state related to the establishment and modification of health care institutions, facilities, and services. That policy requires that needed institutions, facilities, and services be developed in an orderly and economical manner. Prior to July 2002, the Health Facilities Commission performed these duties.

The certificate of need process is used to implement this public policy. A certificate of need is a permit for the establishment or modification of health care institutions and the initiation of certain services that impact health care availability and utilization. The process is designed to promote access to high-quality facilities and services, prevent unnecessary duplication of services, guide the establishment of facilities and services that best serve public needs, and promote cost savings. The state health plan provides guidance on these issues.

Public Chapter 1043 of the Acts of 2016 made significant changes to the certificate of need process including adding accountability factors regarding quality standards, continuing need, and quality measures.

The Agency meets bimonthly in an open forum to consider certificate of need applications based upon the general criteria of need, economic feasibility, quality standards, and contribution to the orderly development of health care. Certificate of Need decisions are made by an 11-member board consisting of three consumers, five health care industry representatives, and three state officials.

Tennessee Housing Development Agency

Nashville, TN 37243
(615) 815-2200

Ralph M. Perrey, Executive Director

Established in 1973, the Tennessee Housing Development Agency (THDA) operates a wide range of state and federal programs that assist more than 150,000 Tennessee households every year. The agency receives no state tax dollars but is authorized to sell tax-exempt notes and bonds. This revenue allows THDA to offer mortgage loans to qualified homebuyers within certain income limits, as well as financial aid toward certain loan expenses including the down payment. In turn, the mortgage loan program generates enough revenue to cover the agency's operating budget and replenish the Tennessee Housing Trust Fund each year.

THDA uses the Tennessee Housing Trust Fund to provide millions of dollars in grants to municipal government agencies and local nonprofits that manage housing-related programs for Tennesseans in need. Additional revenue from THDA's mortgage loan program is used to maintain a statewide network of homebuyer education and foreclosure prevention counselors and to manage TNHousingSearch.com, an online resource for Tennesseans in search of affordable housing.

In addition, THDA manages nine federal programs at the state level, including authorizing federal tax credits and tax-exempt bonds to finance the construction and preservation of affordable rental properties. In 72 counties, THDA runs the Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher program to subsidize the monthly housing costs of Tennesseans of low income. Other federal programs include weatherization and energy assistance grants.

THDA is governed by a Board of Directors appointed by the Governor, Speaker of the Senate, and Speaker of the House. The State's constitutional officers and the Commissioner of Finance and Administration serve as ex officio members.

Beverly L. Watts, Executive Director

The Tennessee Human Rights Commission is an independent state agency created in 1963 to encourage, promote, and advise the public of their human rights. In 1978, the Commission transformed into an enforcement agency through the passage of the Tennessee Human Rights Act (THRA), and, later, the Tennessee Disability Act (TDA), which together prohibit discrimination in housing, employment, and public accommodation on the basis of race, color, creed, national origin, religion, sex, disability, familial status (housing only), and age (over forty in employment). The Commission also ensures the state's compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VI), which prohibits discrimination based on race, color, and national origin by state agencies receiving federal financial assistance. The Commission has workshare agreements with the Equal Opportunity Employment Commission (EEOC) and the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These workshare agreements provide the Commission with authority to investigate discrimination claims filed under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Fair Housing Act of 1968, as amended. The Commission's mission is to safeguard individuals from discrimination through enforcement and education.

The Commission is governed by a nine-member board of commissioners serving staggered six-year terms and appointed by the Governor, the Lt. Governor, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to represent the three Grand Divisions of the state. A twenty-nine-member staff of investigators, attorneys, and other professional support personnel carry out the day-to-day duties of conducting thorough investigations and educating the public about their rights and responsibilities. Staff duties include the receipt, investigation, and, when necessary, litigation of discrimination complaints. When parties agree, the Commission conducts mediation and conciliation as means to resolve complaints. It also provides technical assistance to state agencies for complying with Title VI and educating the public about their rights and responsibilities under the THRA and TDA laws. The Tennessee Human Rights Commission maintains its central office in Nashville and has regional offices in Knoxville, Chattanooga, and Memphis.

TRICOR is managed by a board of directors consisting of nine individuals appointed by the Governor, with the Commissioner of the Department of Correction serving as an ex officio member. State statute requires that the board consist of individuals with specific and varied backgrounds.

TRICOR is a unique organization operating on a self-sustaining business model using no state-appropriated funds. It generates revenue through three strategic business units: business services, manufacturing, and agriculture. TRICOR operates inside and outside Tennessee prisons and provides products and services to both government and the private-sector organizations.

All offenders participating in TRICOR operations receive career management training to prepare them for a successful transition through the context of work. TRICOR integrates occupational skills development, life skills coaching, cognitive restructuring, and education attainment, offering an opportunity for individual transformation upon release and successful reentry into society.

TRICOR programs assist in reducing the Department of Correction's recidivism rate, saving taxpayer dollars, and increasing public safety.

Board members and staff work closely with the General Assembly, the Tennessee Department of Education, Tennessee Higher Education Commission, business leaders, and other education stakeholders to oversee the implementation of policies and programs. SBE measures the state's success in preparing all students for postsecondary success by examining key student outcomes, including the postsecondary attendance rate, performance on the ACT and National Assessment of Educational Progress, and other key indicators. SBE provides information and tools to students, parents, teachers, and policy makers, enabling them to deliver the education constitutionally guaranteed to all Tennesseans.

Volunteer Tennessee partners with the Department of Education and Lions Clubs International to support service-learning, a teaching methodology that combines academic and behavioral learning with volunteer service for K–12 youth. Volunteer Tennessee also manages the Governor’s Volunteer Stars Awards. Initiated in 2008, the award program recognizes one youth and one adult volunteer from each participating county in the state.

The National and Community Service Trust Act of 1993 requires states to maintain a bipartisan state citizen service commission in order to qualify for funds from the federal Corporation for National and Community Service. Volunteer Tennessee’s twenty-five-member commission was created in 1994 by Executive Order 55, and it is administratively attached to the Department of Finance and Administration.
