Chapter 0080-06-09
Firewood Quarantine

0080-06-09-.01 Declaration of Quarantine.

- (1) Hundreds of non-native species of insects, diseases, and plants are established in the United States and are often moved around the country through various vectors, including firewood and lumber. Numerous of the species are not currently established in Tennessee but are capable of spreading rapidly and causing significant economic and ecological impact to their surroundings, e.g. Asian Longhorned Beetle, Goldspotted Oak Borer, Gypsy Moth, oak wilt (caused by Ceratocystis fagacearum), sudden oak death (caused by Phytophthora ramorum), and bacterial leaf scorch (caused by Xylella fastidiosa). Given the multitude of possible pests and disease, their potential to spread with movement of untreated firewood, and their propensity to cause rapid damage once moved, untreated firewood poses a significant risk to landscapes and commercial lumber and plant industries in Tennessee. Quarantine against untreated firewood is therefore necessary to protect the agricultural, horticultural, silvicultural, and other interests of the state.
- (2) The department hereby establishes a quarantine to restrict movement of firewood and regulated articles under this chapter as capable of supporting dissemination of invasive pests and disease.
- (3) Requirements of this chapter are construed in addition to and not in lieu of other federal or state quarantines applicable to movement of firewood.

Regulatory Flexibility Addendum

- (1) Type or types of small business subject to the proposed rule that would bear the cost of, and/or directly benefit from the proposed rule:

These rules affect persons that bring firewood into the state from other states.

- (2) Identification and estimate of the number of small businesses subject to the proposed rule:

There is no way to estimate the number of companies wanting to export firewood into the state. Some of them could be small businesses.

- (3) Projected reporting, recordkeeping and other administrative costs required for compliance with the proposed rule, including the type of professional skills necessary for preparation of the report or record:

Out of state firewood producers will need to have proof the firewood has been treated to specifications.

- (4) Statement of the probable effect on impacted small businesses and consumers:

Firewood producers will required to treat the wood before bringing it into the state.

- (5) Description of any less burdensome, less intrusive or less costly alternative methods of achieving the purpose and/or objectives of the proposed rule that may exist, and to what extent, such alternative means might be less burdensome to small business:

A less burdensome method for implementing these safeguards to protect the forest interests is not available.

- (6) Comparison of the proposed rule with any federal or state counterparts:

These rules are consistent with the requirements of the federal laws for prevention of the spread of invasive pests.

- (7) Analysis of the effect of the possible exemption of small businesses from all or any part of the requirements contained in the proposed rule.

If small businesses were exempt the exception would likely be the rule.

Impact on Local Governments

These rules have no impact on local government.

- (B) A citation to and brief description of any federal law or regulation or any state law or regulation mandating promulgation of such rule or establishing guidelines relevant thereto;

The Plant Pest Act, T.C.A § 43-6-101 et seq., authorizes the commissioner of agriculture to impose quarantines to protect the state from invasive pests.

- (C) Identification of persons, organizations, corporations or governmental entities most directly affected by this rule, and whether those persons, organizations, corporations or governmental entities urge adoption or rejection of this rule;
